BONDS MUST BE ISSUED

So Thinks the New Board of Education.

TREASURY IS ALMOST DEPLETED

And Notes Soon to Fall Due—Voted to Borrow Money to Pay the Salaries of the Teachers and Janitor—Question of How to Proceed to Raise Funds.

The board of education were in session for three long and weary hours last night, the occasion of this being a perplexing dispute among the members as to the best course to be adopted in order to raise a sufficiency of funds to pay off the teachers, janitors and other expenses incidentally incurred, as well as to make provision for the payment of notes that will fall due shortly.

Here was a condition of affairs that confronted the new board that they had never anticipated, and to overcome this apparently unsurmountable task, they were almost at sea as to the best method to pursue. In view of the depleted condition of the treasury it was evident that some action must immediately be taken, and not wishing to adopt a plan that might not be in full compliance with the exact letter of the law, considerable hesitancy marked the transaction of the business of the evening.

The meeting was called to order by President McGraw at 8 o'clock, all members being present. Conforming with resolution adopted at the previous meeting, the session was opened with prayer, the president invoking God's blessing, and asking that the board's deliberations be characterized by wisdom. City Solicitor Grosshans came in and was seated. Following prayer was the reading of the minutes of the last meeting. Mr. McClain misunderstood the reading of one clause in the minutes in reference to a communication that had been received, and he asked to have it corrected. The secretary explained and showed Mr. McClain that he was laboring under a misapprehension, and the minutes were then allowed to stand.

The committee appointed to confer with Agent Claffin, of the Smead Heating Company, reported that he had met the gentleman and held a lengthy consultation with him; their impression was that the new heating arrangements would give satisfaction, and they recommended a final settlement with the company. Mr. Stevenson, who was the spokesman, continuing said that the original heating company went into the hands of a receiver, and that this company could not be legally held responsible for its failures. Mr. Stevenson thought that the agent could not consistently guarantee that the improved arrangement would give entire satisfaction, although further trouble was not thought probable.

A motion by McClain that the report of the committee be adopted, carried, although the other members declared that this action was superfluous and merely a reiteration of what the former board had done. The president called the roll for a vote on the question and the result was seven yeas and one nay.

The secretary was then asked to give a statement of the financial condition of the board, and he reported that $1,951.41 was the amount needed to pay the salaries of the teachers; to the janitor, $205.25; part of this for supplies, etc.; bills for $1,811.35 endorsed and ordered paid at the last meeting of the former board. Total amount of unpaid bills, $4,013.35. To wipe out this indebtedness the present board have the insignificant sum of $24 in the treasury, and with this perplexing question to contend with, the board commenced to ask each other where they were at.

Mr. Nickle arose to his feet and expressed himself rather dubiously. He said: "I confess that I don't know what course to pursue. I would like to have some light upon the matter. We realize that the bills are all honestly due and we should come to some terms whereby we can meet the obligations. After this evening we should get down to some system. As a stream runs, just so should our financial condition."

McClain remarked that when all debts were met the board would be ready to proceed in this way. Upon motion by the secretary the board was about to go into executive session, but upon an agreement by the representatives of the press who were present, to report only what the board felt disposed to make public, this motion was set aside.

The solicitor was then called upon to give his opinion as to what method could be taken to raise funds, and to explain the law covering the issuance of bonds. The solicitor outlined his interpretation of the law, and opined that sums of money might be borrowed from the banks of the city to meet the salaries of the teachers and janitor that fall due today. In his mind he thought that the board might take such action with propriety, although there was no specific statute defining concisely the exact course to pursue. This method of raising funds had been adopted by the previous board, and, to a certain extent, had become a custom. Then followed discussions and arguments galore. The board realized that they had an elephant on their hands, and as the money had to be raised by today, they were in a quandary what to do; and, in addition to this, there are two big notes that are soon to fall due, aside from the running expenses that are to be met. These were troublesome questions to contemplate, and as a panacea, Mr. Nickle submitted the following resolution:

WHEREAS, It has been necessary for the board of education to already borrow $6,500 for necessary expenses, and it will be necessary for the board to borrow the further sum of $6,500, both of which are in anticipation of the issue of a bond to be made at some future date, therefore be it,

Resolved, That the president and clerk are hereby authorized to negotiate a loan, and to execute the note in behalf of the board, in the total sum of $6,500, at such time and in such amounts as they may see fit.

This resolution was the cause of endless discussion, some of the members not wishing to support the measure, fearing that it might not be in full accordance with the law. The adoption of the resolution was moved and seconded and the matter then submitted to a vote. The result was five for its adoption and three against.

The president then arose and stated that he had his misgivings about the legality of taking such action, and sooner than violate his obligation, he would prefer to resign his position as president. He was finally prevailed upon to change his mind and consented to take the matter under advisement, owing to the inconvenience that his resignation would plunge the board into at this time.

Mr. Vordrey finally moved that the clerk be instructed to borrow $4,500 today to pay the teachers and janitor. Mr. Stevenson seconded the motion, and it carried unanimously. The board will then submit the question of the issuance of bonds to the people, who will vote upon it. The meeting then adjourned.

THE KARNIVAL.

Fun and Merriment at the Grand Last Night.

There was a delightful audience at the Grand last night. The "Karnival" was on deck, under the auspices of St. Stephen's church. The song and march of the 100 little ones was well worth witnessing, the wee tots in the rear of the column causing intense merriment by their cute antics. The service of song by the three little maids was heartily applauded, while the babes in the wood acted their part to perfection. The walking display advertisements, embracing sixty handsome ladies, fearfully and wonderfully arrayed, showed some very funny and some very handsome costumes. Miss Galm represented the News Review, and she was arrayed in a costume composed, from head to foot, of copies of this paper. The suit was the result of the artistic skill of an artist from Paris. Votes were taken last night as to the opinion of the audience as to which lady represented the best advertisement. None but reserved seat holders were entitled to a vote. Voting will also take place at the second entertainment, to be given tonight, and we shall note the result in tomorrow's issue.

The walking advertisements came out singly in the first place, each lady attempting to walk in the course of a figure "8," but some of the figures made would have puzzled a mathematician to make them out, as a few of the fair maidens were the victims of stage fright. The march, at the windup of the performance, was a pleasing sight.

Miss Maude Carr presided at the piano, and her playing added much to the success of the evening.

St. Stephen's church deserves warm commendation for providing such a delightful entertainment. Don't fail to be present tonight and enjoy the fun. The costumes worn tonight will be a complete change from those worn last night.

MR. SMITH'S SAD END

A Well Known Potter Dies at the Buckeye.

STRAIN CAUSED A HEMORRHAGE

He Had Just Recovered From a Former Attack—Has Been a Resident of This City for Six Years—A Cup Jiggerman by Trade.

Thomas Smith, an employee of the Buckeye pottery, died suddenly yesterday evening after completing a day's work.

As mentioned in the News Review about a week ago, Mr. Smith brought on a hemorrhage while lifting a heavy board of ware. He was taken to his boarding house in the patrol and medical aid was summoned. After a week's illness he was able to again be out, and returned to work yesterday morning, although not in the best of health.

Yesterday evening about 6:30, after finishing a hard day's work, he was engaged in putting on a shoe, when in some manner he strained himself and brought on another hemorrhage. Rushing to window he spat up a quantity of blood, growing weaker and weaker. He finally sank to the floor, and companion workmen, noticing his condition, immediately sought the aid of physicians. Two doctors were telephoned for, but when one arrived his assistance was of no avail, and in a few minutes the unfortunate man had passed into eternity. The other doctor responded after the man was dead. Mr. Smith has been in delicate health for some time.

A man was dispatched for a wagon and the dead man taken to the Commercial house, where he resided. An undertaker was then called to prepare the remains for burial.

Thomas Smith was an Englishman by birth, and aged 46 years. He left Hanley, Eng., for this country about 13 years ago, and secured employment in Trenton. After a short residence in that city he came to East Liverpool, but returned in a few months. About six years ago he again came to the Crockery city and has worked in nearly all the potteries, securing a position a few weeks ago at the Buckeye. He was a cup jiggerman by trade, and a good workman.

Mr. Smith was a good natured, jovial man, and was held in high esteem by his brother workmen, who deplore his sad end.

THE STATE CONVENTION.

The Prohibition Meeting at Findlay an Enthusiastic One.

Rev. R. B. Whitehead and Charles F. Bough are home from the state Prohibition convention held at Findlay. They are well pleased and have secured positions in a number of the committees. For the Eighteenth district the appointments were as follows: Vice president, P. H. Jones, of Wellsville; credentials, Robert B. Whitehead, East Liverpool; permanent organization, A. S. VanBuskirk, Canton; committee on rules, Charles F. Bough, East Liverpool; resolutions, John Danner, Canton; state central committee, L. B. Elector, Alliance; presidential elector, Charles F. Bough, East Liverpool; delegates to national convention, Charles F. Bough, A. S. VanBuskirk, E. H. Brosius; alternates, Robert B. Whitehead, John Danner, Richard Brown.

Rev. John W. Woolley was the speaker of the evening at the Prohibition rally Tuesday night, and was listened to attentively by the large audience present. The convention was the largest and most enthusiastic in the history of the party, and those who attended from this city highly enjoyed the occasion and all say they were accorded most hospitable treatment by the citizens of Findlay.

THE MCKINLEY CLUB.

No Action Taken in Regard to Changing Their Quarters.

The McKinley club met in their rooms last night with a large number present. The club did not take any action in regard to changing their quarters. The committee appointed to look after more commodious rooms did not complete their report, and were continued. They will have a full report arranged for the deliberation of the club at the next meeting. There was no important business brought before the body, and after talks on various subjects the club adjourned.

Called in a Body.

The Young People's society of the Second U. P. church, of East End, upon an invitation of Harvey Martin, of Dry Run, called at his residence last night in a body and spent a most enjoyable evening in music and games. Refreshments were served, and at a late hour the guests returned to their homes.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

More Kind Words For America's Next President.

With the exception of Colonel Thompson, whose presidential choice has not been made public, the Indiana delegation at large all are pronounced McKinley men. It is altogether likely, however, that the state convention will insist on instructing them—not because of any fear of betrayal, but in order to set at rest all possible doubt concerning the sentiment of the great mass of Republicans of Indiana.—Lafayette Courier, Ind.

Allegheny county was entitled to a congressman-at-large, and William E. Harrison would have made a worthy candidate, but though disappointed that it did not secure the prize, its Republicans next November will roll up a tremendous majority for Crow and Davenport, as well as for William McKinley for President.—Pittsburg Times.

"Vote for McKinley" is the demand the Tennessee Republican convention makes of the delegates from that state to the St. Louis convention, and that demand will be met to the letter.—Toledo Blade.

Pennsylvania is getting in line with Kentucky to give her compliments to her favorite son and her votes to McKinley.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Speaker Reed will not get the solid vote of the New England delegation. That was proven at the state convention in Connecticut, which almost divided its favors between Major McKinley and the man from Maine, Massachusetts, also, will have some votes for the protection champion.—Findlay Republican.

STREET CORNER LOAFERS.

A Communication From Parties Who Don't Like Them.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—Permit me, through the columns of your valuable newspaper, to say a few words in regard to street corner loafers. I noticed in an issue of the News Review of a few evenings since that one business man had complained to the mayor of the crowds that congregated in front of his place of business in the evenings. Now, this corner is not near as bad as some others near the Diamond, where crowds of loafers congregate every evening until it is almost an impossibility for a lady to pass through them. Now, I have no objection to the hard working man using the streets in the evenings, but the people that congregate on these corners are those who never work, but spend their time, both day and night, loafing on these corners and striking everybody that passes for 5 and 10 cents, as the notion may strike them. This has become such a habit with those people that a man cannot pass them without being approached by one of these rowdies. The mayor and marshal will have the warm thanks of a great number of persons if this gang of hoodlums is disbanded.

WEST MARKET STREET.

A SAD DEATH.

A Bright Young Man of East End Passes Away.

East End residents were shocked yesterday evening at the announcement of the death of William Beal, Jr., one of the best known young men of that section of the city.

Deceased was aged 22 years, and had been ill for almost two months, but was thought to be rapidly recovering. He was able to sit up when he was suddenly taken with a relapse, and was soon beyond earthly aid. His demise will be learned by all with deep sorrow, as he was a genial young man of splendid habits and made friends wherever he went. He was a member of the Ohio Valley council, American Mechanics.

The Mechanics will have charge of the funeral, which takes place from the Second Presbyterian church at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Reverend Greene officiating. Interment at Spring Grove cemetery.

SOMETHING WAS WRONG.

A Young Woman Pursued by a Man Last Night.

About 8:15 o'clock last night a young woman was noticed hurrying down Washington street and turn into Church alley. The matter was not given any thought until a man was seen rushing to the alley, and commenced a vigorous search, looking into every corner. Before the reporter could speak to the man concerning the escapade, he turned and ran up Washington street and eluded the newsgather at the postoffice. The reporter then made a tour of the square, but was unrewarded, and perhaps a spicy newspaper article was spoiled.

THE CROCKERY TRADE

Careful Buying Is the Rule of the Wholesalers.

IMPORTS EXCEED LAST YEAR'S

English Manufacturers Are Awakening to the Necessity For New Shapes and Designs—An Improvement in the Retail Business.

In the New York trade, careful buying is the rule and feature of the wholesale business. Staples have the most call and there is no talk of fancy goods outside of the importing houses. This class of goods will necessarily move slowly at this period. So far, indications are that the imports this year will be on a par with those of last. There is much room for improvement in the condition of business.

Notwithstanding the claims advanced that German goods, by reason of their cheapness and the general improvement in make and design, and their better facilities for holding the market, were displacing French productions, the latter goods are holding their own. The English manufacturers are learning that sprightliness and beauty of design are as essential to the sale of their goods in America as the mild decoration. Carlsbad ware is more largely in demand than formerly and an improvement can be seen in the coloring.

The retail trade has been marked by a great improvement since the opening of spring, especially home products. During the past six months, there has been a great depression in New York, and the climbing up of trade is appreciated for that reason. When the immediate demands for the usual summer lines have been filled, a further improvement is expected and more attention can be given crockery and glassware.

The fact that department stores are giving more attention to crockery and glassware lines is causing alarm among the regular dealers, and already a number of the latter are closing out this spring. In the department stores of the present day you can buy anything from a hair pin to a grand piano. Within their walls a New York shopper can have her every want supplied, and according to a trade paper, the next step will be a hotel annex and continuous variety performance. This centralization of lines has a disastrous effect on the small exclusively crockery merchant and trader.

The various organizations of merchants are powerless to contend with the undervaluations of imports, although they have suspicions as to the delinquents, but necessary evidence is hard to procure. Some firms have the reputation of selling goods cheaper than rival firms can import them. An investigation has been instituted by the government, but is only making small headway.

DECORATION DAY.

Department Commander Townsend Calls Attention to Its Observance.

General Charles Townsend, in general orders to the Ohio department of the Grand Army of the Republic, has called attention of past officers and members to the Wilhelm law, forbidding the conducting of amusements or games within a radius of one mile of a speaker's stand on Memorial day. The Grand Army of the Republic endorses this law, and urges that its members see to it that it is not violated.

Attention is also called to the law providing that, other qualification being equal, an honorably discharged Union soldier of the civil war shall have preference in appointment to public service. General Townsend says the Grand Army of the Republic should insist on a fair observance of this law, but should recommend none but suitable, worthy and capable veterans for appointment to office.

THE WORK COMPLETED.

The Fire Committee Now Have a Report Ready.

The fire committee, consisting of Members Chellis, Horwell and Peake, have at last completed their work, and at the next meeting of council will, in their report, recommend the employment of a paid fire department. It is proposed by them that the city employ a department to consist of a chief and eight men. The salary of the chief is fixed at $60 per month, while the men are divided into grades, the first grade to receive $50 per month, while the second grade will get $45 a month for their services. Besides these men, it is suggested in the report that the city employ several minute men.

So Thinks the New Board of Education.

TREASURY IS ALMOST DEPLETED

And Notes Soon to Fall Due—Voted to Borrow Money to Pay the Salaries of the Teachers and Janitor—Question of How to Proceed to Raise Funds.

The board of education were in session for three long and weary hours last night, the occasion of this being a perplexing dispute among the members as to the best course to be adopted in order to raise a sufficiency of funds to pay off the teachers, janitors and other expenses incidentally incurred, as well as to make provision for the payment of notes that will fall due shortly.

For the Eighteenth district the appointments were as follows: Vice president, P. H. Jones, of Wellsville; credentials, Robert B. Whitehead, East Liverpool; permanent organization, A. S. VanBuskirk, Canton; committee on rules, Charles F. Bough, East Liverpool; resolutions, John Danner, Canton; state central committee, L. B. Elector, Alliance; presidential elector, Charles F. Bough, East Liverpool; delegates to national convention, Charles F. Bough, A. S. VanBuskirk, E. H. Brosius; alternates, Robert B. Whitehead, John Danner, Richard Brown.

Rev. John W. Woolley was the speaker of the evening at the Prohibition rally Tuesday night, and was listened to attentively by the large audience present. The convention was the largest and most enthusiastic in the history of the party, and those who attended from this city highly enjoyed the occasion and all say they were accorded most hospitable treatment by the citizens of Findlay.

THE M'KINLEY CLUB.

No Action Taken in regard to Changing Their Quarters.

The McKinley club met in their rooms last night with a large number present. The club did not take any action in regard to changing their quarters. The committee appointed to look after more commodious rooms did not complete their report, and were continued. They will have a full report arranged for the deliberation of the club at the next meeting. There was no important business brought before the body, and after talks on various subjects the club adjourned.

Called in a Body.

The Young People's society of the Second U. P. church, of East End, upon an invitation of Harvey Martin, of Dry Run, called at his residence last night in a body and spent a most enjoyable evening in music and games. Refreshments were served, and at a late hour the guests returned to their homes.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

More Kind Words For America's Next President.

With the exception of Colonel Thompson, whose presidential choice has not been made public, the Indiana delegation at large all are pronounced McKinley men. It is altogether likely, however, that the state convention will insist on instructing them—not because of any fear of betrayal, but in order to set at rest all possible doubt concerning the sentiment of the great mass of Republicans of Indiana.—Lafayette Courier, Ind.

Allegheny county was entitled to a congressman-at-large, and William E. Harrison would have made a worthy candidate, but though disappointed that it did not secure the prize, its Republicans next November will roll up a tremendous majority for Crow and Davenport, as well as for William McKinley for President.—Pittsburg Times.

"Vote for McKinley" is the demand the Tennessee Republican convention makes of the delegates from that state to the St. Louis convention, and that demand will be met to the letter.—Toledo Blade.

Pennsylvania is getting in line with Kentucky to give her compliments to her favorite son and her votes to McKinley.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Speaker Reed will not get the solid vote of the New England delegation. That was proven at the state convention in Connecticut, which almost divided its favors between Major McKinley and the man from Maine, Massachusetts, also, will have some votes for the protection champion.—Findlay Republican.

STREET CORNER LOAFERS.

A Communication From Parties Who Don't Like Them.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—Permit me, through the columns of your valuable newspaper, to say a few words in regard to street corner loafers. I noticed in an issue of the NEWS REVIEW of a few evenings since that one business man had complained to the mayor of the crowds that congregated in front of his place of business in the evenings. Now, this corner is not near as bad as some others near the Diamond, where crowds of loafers congregate every evening until it is almost an impossibility for a lady to pass through them. Now, I have no objection to the hard working man using the streets in the evenings, but the people that congregate on these corners are those who never work, but spend their time, both day and night, loafing on these corners and striking everybody that passes for 5 and 10 cents, as the notion may strike them. This has become such a habit with those people that a man cannot pass them without being approached by one of these rowdies. The mayor and marshal will have the warm thanks of a great number of persons if this gang of hoodlums is disbanded.

WEST MARKET STREET.

A SAD DEATH.

A Bright Young Man of East End Passes Away.

East End residents were shocked yesterday evening at the announcement of the death of William Beal, Jr., one of the best known young men of that section of the city.

Deceased was aged 22 years, and had been ill for almost two months, but was thought to be rapidly recovering. He was able to sit up when he was suddenly taken with a relapse, and was soon beyond earthly aid. His demise will be learned by all with deep sorrow, as he was a genial young man of splendid habits and made friends wherever he went. He was a member of the Ohio Valley council, American Mechanics.

The Mechanics will have charge of the funeral, which takes place from the Second Presbyterian church at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Reverend Greene officiating. Interment at Spring Grove cemetery.

SOMETHING WAS WRONG.

A Young Woman Pursued by a Man Last Night.

About 8:15 o'clock last night a young woman was noticed hurrying down Washington street and turn into Church alley. The matter was not given any thought until a man was seen rushing to the alley, and commenced a vigorous search, looking into every corner. Before the reporter could speak to the man concerning the escapade, he turned and ran up Washington street and eluded the reporter at the postoffice. The reporter then made a tour of the square, but was unrewarded, and perhaps a spicy newspaper article was spoiled.

THE CROCKERY TRADE

Careful Buying Is the Rule of the Wholesalers.

IMPORTS EXCEED LAST YEAR'S

English Manufacturers Are Awakening to the Necessity For New Shapes and Designs—An Improvement in the Retail Business.

In the New York trade, careful buying is the rule and feature of the wholesale business. Staples have the most call and there is no talk of fancy goods outside of the importing houses. This class of goods will necessarily move slowly at this period. So far, indications are that the imports this year will be on a par with those of last. There is much room for improvement in the condition of business.

Notwithstanding the claims advanced that German goods, by reason of their cheapness and the general improvement in make and design, and their better facilities for holding the market, were displacing French productions, the latter goods are holding their own. The English manufacturers are learning that sprightliness and beauty of design are as essential to the sale of their goods in America as the mild decoration. Carlsbad ware is more largely in demand than formerly and an improvement can be seen in the coloring.

The retail trade has been marked by a great improvement since the opening of spring, especially home products. During the past six months, there has been a great depression in New York, and the climbing up of trade is appreciated for that reason. When the immediate demands for the usual summer lines have been filled, a further improvement is expected and more attention can be given to crockery and glassware.

The fact that department stores are giving more attention to crockery and glassware lines is causing alarm among the regular dealers, and already a number of the latter are closing out this spring. In the department stores of the present day you can buy anything from a hair pin to a grand piano. Within their walls a New York shopper can have her every want supplied, and according to a trade paper, the next step will be a hotel annex and continuous variety performance. This centralization of lines has a disastrous effect on the small exclusively crockery merchant and trader.

The various organizations of merchants are powerless to contend with the undervaluations of imports, although they have suspicions as to the delinquents, but necessary evidence is hard to procure. Some firms have the reputation of selling goods cheaper than rival firms can import them. An investigation has been instituted by the government, but is only making small headway.

DECORATION DAY.

Department Commander Townsend Calls Attention to Its Observance.

General Charles Townsend, in general orders to the Ohio department of the Grand Army of the Republic, has called attention of past officers and members to the Wilhelm law, forbidding the conducting of amusements or games within a radius of one mile of a speaker's stand on Memorial day. The Grand Army of the Republic endorses this law, and urges that its members see to it that it is not violated.

Attention is also called to the law providing that, other qualification being equal, an honorably discharged Union soldier of the civil war shall have preference in appointment to public service. General Townsend says the Grand Army of the Republic should insist on a fair observance of this law, but should recommend none but suitable, worthy and capable veterans for appointment to office.

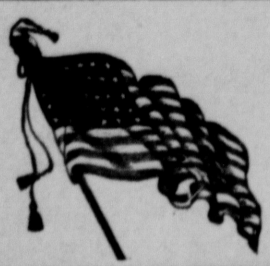

THE WORK COMPLETED.

The Fire Committee Now Have a Report Ready.

The fire committee, consisting of Members Chellis, Horwell and Peake, have at last completed their work, and at the next meeting of council will, in their report, recommend the employment of a paid fire department. It is proposed by them that the city employ a department to consist of a chief and eight men. The salary of the chief is fixed at $60 per month, while the men are divided into grades, the first grade to receive $50 per month, while the second grade will get $45 a month for their services. Besides these men, it is suggested in the report that the city employ several minute men.

For President,
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
Of Ohio.

BEAUTIFUL WARE.

She had purchased some choice specimens of lotus ware at one of our potteries, and as she gazed at the acquisition to her treasures, she exultingly said: "Oh, the beauties. I never dreamed that such exquisite ware was being manufactured in East Liverpool. I don't believe that there is anything quite as nice as this in my home collection. I'll make my Philadelphia friends jealous." We smiled and tranquilly soliloquized that "East Liverpool is strictly in the swim," or words to that effect.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Our new board of education is beset with difficulties, in consequence of having a large indebtedness bequeathed to them and simply nothing in the way of assets. The more honor to the present board in overcoming existing difficulties. The taxpayers will understand the situation and will stand by the newly elected members. Let all matters, financial and otherwise, be conducted in a common sense and business like manner, and our citizens will accord full honor to the men and women who are thus beset with difficulties.

Y. M. C. A.

The members and officials expect that they will be in their new quarters about July 1. Extensive improvements will be made, and everything possible done to have affairs in tip top shape. The members are jubilant over the contemplated change of quarters, as they very much dreaded, in the past, the long flights of stairs. A prominent member said today to the writer: "I have been growing weary climbing skyward. The very thought of trotting round to the new rooms, and merely stepping off the pavement into delightful quarters, is a treat within itself." This feeling prevails to a considerable extent among outsiders, and the indications are that the membership of the organization will be added to strongly in consequence.

LOAFERS.

Representative citizens of East Liverpool demand that the street corner loafer shall cease to exist in this busy city, especially those fellows who assemble in prominent locations, occupy both sides of the sidewalk, and thus compel ladies to run the gauntlet, while the blackguards use the very worst class of vulgar and profane language, and expectorate tobacco juice all around and about them. The president of council will earn the warm gratitude of thousands of men and women if he will take this matter into consideration. Mayor Gilbert and Marshal Johnson can do no better thing than to order these loafers to make themselves scarce, and in case they do not obey to the letter, send them to the workhouse and give them a chance to earn their daily bread. They are a disgrace to the honest workmen of our city, and should be removed. The writer made note of a number of ladies who were going to the "Karnival" last night at the Grand Opera House, and they crossed the street just before reaching their destination, rather than run the gauntlet these never-work fellows had formed on Sixth street. Chase them out of the city.

CHOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

In case the great mass of the people of the United States were permitted to express their choice of a candidate for the presidency, William McKinley would receive an overwhelming majority. From Maine to California, the great protectionist has a warm corner in the hearts of the people. The wage-workers of the country—the men who make and support this great republic—are alive to the undeniable fact that McKinley is the friend of the masses; aware of the fact that he advocates a policy which will bring peace, prosperity and plenty to hearthstones all over the land; aware that he is a good man, a safe man, and a statesman; aware of the fact that he loves and serves God, and that, in such hands, and under such leadership, God will cause this country to prosper. McKinley is the absolute choice of the people, and he can only be set aside by and through the manipulation of political wire pullers, men who care more for position and place, for the fat of office, than for the good of the country at large. The toilers of this land love McKinley, and they hope to see him nominated on the first ballot.

A MOLE RANCHER.

Californian Who Makes Money by His Studies as a Naturalist.

"No, boys, it ain't money that makes my pockets bulge out that way, but it is the equivalent," remarked a gray haired, gray bearded rancher from Mendocino as he took in the slack of a hay rope that did service for a belt. "To tell the truth, my breeches pockets and my coat pockets, too, are pretty well lined with moleskins. Within the last year I have developed into a mole hunter, and it pays. I have several acres in strawberries at Ukiah, and they need considerable water. I used to put in a lot of time digging little trenches and turning water this way and that, but it was disappointing to go out the next day and find that I had been irrigating a mole hole. I set a watch on the little pests, and I soon learned their habits. Since then it is no trouble at all to get them. "In the first place, I found that a mole never comes straight up to the top of the ground, but always on a slant, and you will see the ground agitated for some time before he throws up his bill. If you step within 20 feet of him when he comes to the top, he will instantly stop work and run. It's no use to try to catch him then. "But a mole is the victim of habit. If he is disturbed at his work at 2 o'clock today, he will not come back till exactly 2 o'clock tomorrow. You can set a watch by him and depend on its being right. Well, I watch around in my berry patch and take the time whenever I disturb Mr. Mole. The next day, when it is time for him to come back, I take my station near the hole. As soon as he throws up his little mound I plant my foot behind him and close up the hole. Then all I have to do is to scoop him out of the dirt and drop him into my pocket, kicking and scratching like a good fellow. I kill him, stretch his skin on a shingle, and a man here in the city pays me $1 apiece for them to make purses of."—San Francisco Post.

IN THE SMOKING CAR.

The New Young Woman Seemed to Know Where She Belonged.

A woman, perfectly dressed, entered the smoking car of a suburban train bound for New York the other morning. The man who saw her supposed that she intended to pass through. Half way down the aisle, however, she dropped into a seat. The gentleman who occupied the seat behind her leaned forward and touched her on the shoulder. "I beg your pardon," he said, "but this is the smoking car."

"Thank you," she replied. "I thought so."

Then calmly she produced a dainty cigarette case, abstracted a cigarette and a wax match, and in a moment more was smoking with all the calm enjoyment of a man. There was a flutter of amusement through the car—smiles, grins, sotto voce remarks and curious glances in her direction—but she seemed serenely self possessed that she was soon forgotten for the morning papers. When the conductor came through, he was almost overcome.

"Madam," said he, "this is no place for ladies."

"Indeed?" she replied. "Is not this the smoking car?"

"Well, I am smoking—that is why I am here."

"Nevertheless, madam, I must request you to go into another car."

"A request with which I must refuse to comply, and which I do not think it would be policy for you to attempt to enforce," she returned calmly, and she settled back in the seat with an air of self-offended dignity and positiveness that the conductor, after thinking very hard for a moment, sighed and passed on.

The woman did not wear bloomers and was not mannish in any particular. She seemed as refined as a woman could be.—New York Journal.

WEYLER EXTREMELY KIND.

He Invites the Cuban Leaders and Rebels to Surrender.

HAVANNA, April 24.—Captain General Weyler has just issued the following proclamation, called out by the condition of affairs in Pinar del Rio. After the usual heading and preamble, the proclamation says: "It having reached my knowledge that rebel parties in the province of Pinar del Rio are in distress through the constant pursuit by the troops and the impossibility of breaking through the military line between Mariel and Majana and through other insurmountable difficulties, and being fearful of surrendering under the fear of the death sentence, the certainty of which has been falsely disseminated among them, I proclaim and command: "Clause first—The rebel leaders who surrender within 30 days from this date with their firearms will be at once pardoned. "Clause second—Those who are not leaders, but who surrender under the same conditions, with their firearms, will also be pardoned. "Clause third—Those surrendering without their arms will be likewise pardoned, but the military authority will designate their place of residence on the island. "Clause fourth—The surrender must be made to the military authority or to columns operating in the field."

NO WOMEN DELEGATES.

The Proposition Defeated by Methodists by a Narrow Margin.

CLEVELAND, April 24.—The proposition to admit women as lay delegates to the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church has been defeated by a very narrow margin. The vote of the North Dakota conference was the last to be taken on the proposition. The total vote is shown to be 7,515 for the admission of women and 2,529 against.

According to a provision of the discipline it is necessary for a proposition to change any of the rules of the church to receive the support of three-fourths of the members of the annual conference voting for the proposition and two-thirds of the members of the general conference. According to the figures issued the women have lost by just 18 votes.

Nominated Brown For Congress.

WILMINGTON, O., April 24.—The Republican congressional convention of the Sixth district nominated Seth W. Brown of Lebanon for congress, and appointed as delegates to the St. Louis convention W. B. Harrison Xenia and E. J. West of Wilmington; as alternates, Judge H. L. Smith of Xenia and George P. Dunham of Wilmington, and as presidential elector, Hon. J. C. Leggett of Ripley. McKinley was endorsed for president.

THREATS AGAINST JACKSON.

Mutterings on the Street and in Court. The Trial.

CINCINNATI, April 24.—Eleven more witnesses have been examined in the Jackson trial at Newport, Ky.

The defense moved to strike out Walling's testimony regarding Jackson's guilt, and the court decided that the jury must consider it only as it seemed to affect Jackson, who was present and heard it.

The testimony of Mrs. A. S. Bryan, the mother of Pearl, was full of pathos. When asked how she was able to identify the headless girl sent to Green Castle as her own Pearl, she answered with thrilling effect: "It's difficult for a mother to be deceived about recognizing her own child."

She and her son Fred testified that Scott Jackson was seldom a visitor to her house; that Will Wood introduced her first, and that Pearl was often at Green Castle, and might have met Jackson there at intervals.

Dr. W. L. Littler testified that Jackson had called upon him about Jan. 23, to settle a dispute about the effect of cocaine. It was also proven by J. H. Ulen that he sold Jackson 17 grains of cocaine on Jan. 29.

Allen Jones Johnson, a colored porter at Wallingford's saloon, testified to seeing Jackson and Walling at the saloon Friday night, Jan. 31, and that a young girl was there with Jackson, and they went away together in a cab. He also testified that Mr. Sheppard, Walling's attorney, had offered to make it better for him to stay away from this trial than to attend it. Jackson showed pallor, especially when the Bryans were on the stand.

Drs. Jenkins and Fishback testified that it would have been impossible to empty a body of blood as was Pearl Bryan's, by decapitating it after death.

A crowd of boys and perhaps 20 or 30 men were on the street where they could see Jackson going back to jail at the end of the men, putting his hands to his mouth to form a sort of trumpet, shouted to the prisoner: "The day we hang you, Jackson." Jackson looked nervously in the direction of the voice, and a deputy sheriff made an effort to locate the man, but did not succeed. A bystander remarked: "We outsiders may attend to the hanging sooner than the court does." Such remarks as "there goes the scoundrel," were heard among the spectators. Even in the courtroom mutterings were heard as the crowd was dispersing.

THE SHAKESPEARE CELEBRATION.

Vows of Friendship Between England and America Exchanged.

STRATFORD ON AVON, April 24.—The third and final day of the celebration of Shakespeare's birthday, the inhabitants turned out in holiday attire and the streets were brilliantly decorated with American and British flags.

United States Ambassador Bayard and his wife and daughter, in company with George F. Parker, the United States consul at Birmingham, were present. The other guests included a number of members of the Players club of New York, which organization has presented, through Mr. Parker, a portrait of Edwin Booth as Hamlet to the Shakespeare theater and museum.

A window was unveiled in the Shakespeare church. The money for the window was contributed by American visitors to the church.

The band played "Hail Columbia" as Mr. Bayard entered.

Mr. Bayard, in the course of a long address, referred to the special significance given to the present commemoration by America's tribute, pointing out the gift as containing in the recognition of Shakespeare a common bond of feeling and sympathy.

After the ceremony Vice-Archbishop said to our representative: "I wish to thank all America for this noble gift presented to the church by anonymous American donors. It does much to knit the relations between the two countries."

The few Americans present included Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Parks of Pittsburg, Pa., Mr. O. H. White of New York, Mr. James Buchanan of Boston and Bret Harte.

After the ceremonies at the church had been concluded the company had luncheon at the town hall. The mayor, who responded to Lord Leigh's toast of "The President of the United States," spoke of the deep affection the British people had for Lincoln and Garfield and called for three cheers for President Cleveland, which were heartily given.

PRESIDENT FAURE MAY RESIGN.

A Crisis May Follow Resignation of the French Ministry.

PARIS, April 24.—The Bourgeois cabinet has resigned.

M. Meline is considered the most likely successor to M. Bourgeois. M. Meline, by reason of his earnest advocacy of the theory of protection, has been called by some persons "The French McKinley."

It is feared that the present cabinet

crisis may have serious effects on the political fabric. It seems probable that a presidential crisis will ensue. In fact, it has been argued by some of the deputies that the resignation of the presidency by M. Faure is part of M. Bourgeois' plan.

The two chambers would have to meet together as one, the national assembly to elect a new president. M. Bourgeois believes that he could control the national assembly as one body, though as two chambers the senate is against him. He would, it is said, endeavor to secure amendments to the constitution from the national assembly, which would put the cabinet beyond fear of harm from the senate alone and make it accountable to the deputies, after which M. Faure would be re-elected president and M. Bourgeois re-appointed premier, would be secure in his lease of power.

JAWSMITHS CAN NOW FIGHT.

Dan Stuart Offers a Purse For Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Dan Stuart of Texas, who has been in New York the last month arranging plans to bring Corbett and Fitzsimmons together in the ring, has invited the two boxers or their representatives to meet him on Saturday to sign articles of agreement. Stuart will offer a purse of $12,000 for a glove contest to be held sometime during November of this year, and will guarantee to furnish a battle ground where a fight can be held without interference or forfeit the entire purse to the principals.

He will post one-third of the amount of the purse when the articles are signed and the balance on Sept. 15, when a meeting will be held for the purpose of selecting a referee and a final stakeholder. Brady, Corbett's manager, received a telegram from the latter authorizing him to sign Stuart's articles.

In consequence of the rise in the steel market it was decided to raise the price of both wire and cut nails 15 cents per hundredweight, to take effect May 1. No amalgamation of the associations was made.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Our new board of education is beset with difficulties, in consequence of having a large indebtedness bequeathed to them and simply nothing in the way of assets. The more honor to the present board in overcoming existing difficulties. The taxpayers will understand the situation and will stand by the newly elected members. Let all matters, financial and otherwise, be conducted in a common sense and business like manner, and our citizens will accord full honor to the men and women who are thus beset with difficulties.

Y. M. C. A.

The members and officials expect that they will be in their new quarters about July 1. Extensive improvements will be made, and everything possible done to have affairs in tip top shape. The members are jubilant over the contemplated change of quarters, as they very much dreaded, in the past, the long flights of stairs. A prominent member said today to the writer: "I have been growing weary climbing skyward. The very thought of trotting round to the new rooms, and merely stepping off the pavement into delightful quarters, is a treat within itself." This feeling prevails to a considerable extent among outsiders, and the indications are that the membership of the organization will be added to strongly in consequence.

LOAFERS.

Representative citizens of East Liverpool demand that the street corner loafer shall cease to exist in this busy city, especially those fellows who assemble in prominent locations, occupy both sides of the sidewalk, and thus compel ladies to run the gauntlet, while the blackguards use the very worst class of vulgar and profane language, and expectorate tobacco juice all around and about them. The president of council will earn the warm gratitude of thousands of men and women if he will take this matter into consideration. Mayor Gilbert and Marshal Johnson can do no better thing than to order these loafers to make themselves scarce, and in case they do not obey to the letter, send them to the workhouse and give them a chance to earn their daily bread. They are a disgrace to the honest workmen of our city, and should be removed. The writer made note of a number of ladies who were going to the "Karnival" last night at the Grand Opera House, and they crossed the street just before reaching their destination, rather than run the gauntlet these never-work fellows had formed on Sixth street. Chase them out of the city.

CHOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

In case the great mass of the people of the United States were permitted to express their choice of a candidate for the presidency, William McKinley would receive an overwhelming majority. From Maine to California, the great protectionist has a warm corner in the hearts of the people. The wage-workers of the country—the men who make and support this great republic—are alive to the undeniable fact that McKinley is the friend of the masses; aware of the fact that he advocates a policy which will bring peace, prosperity and plenty to hearthstones all over the land; aware that he is a good man, a safe man, and a statesman; aware of the fact that he loves and serves God, and that, in such hands, and under such leadership, God will cause this country to prosper. McKinley is the absolute choice of the people, and he can only be set aside by and through the manipulation of political wire pullers, men who care more for position and place, for the fat of office, than for the good of the country at large. The toilers of this land love McKinley, and they hope to see him nominated on the first ballot.

A MOLE RANCHER.

Californian Who Makes Money by His Studies as a Naturalist.

"No, boys, it ain't money that makes my pockets bulge out that way, but it is the equivalent," remarked a gray haired, gray bearded rancher from Mendocino as he took in the slack of a hay rope that did service for a belt.

"To tell the truth, my breeches pockets and my coat pockets, too, are pretty well lined with moleskins. Within the last year I have developed into a mole hunter, and it pays. I have several acres in strawberries at Ukiah, and they need considerable water. I used to put in a lot of time digging little trenches and turning water this way and that, but it was disappointing to go out the next day and find that I had been irrigating a mole hole. I set a watch on the little pests, and I soon learned their habits. Since then it is no trouble at all to get them.

"In the first place, I found that a mole never comes straight up to the top of the ground, but always on a slant, and you will see the ground agitated for some time before he throws up his hill. If you stop within 20 feet of him when he comes to the top, he will instantly stop work and run. It's no use to try to catch him then.

"But a mole is the victim of habit. If he is disturbed at his work at 2 o'clock today, he will not come back till exactly 2 o'clock tomorrow. You can set a watch by him and depend on its being right. Well, I watch around in my berry patch and take the time whenever I disturb Mr. Mole. The next day, when it is time for him to come back, I take my station near the hole. As soon as he throws up his little mound I plant my foot behind him and close up the hole. Then all I have to do is to scoop him out of the dirt and drop him into my pocket, kicking and scratching like a good fellow. I kill him, stretch his skin on a shingle, and a man here in the city pays me $1 apiece for them to make purses of."—San Francisco Post.

IN THE SMOKING CAR.

The New Young Woman Seemed to Know Where She Belonged.

A woman, perfectly dressed, entered the smoking car of a suburban train bound for New York the other morning. The man who saw her supposed that she intended to pass through. Half way down the aisle, however, she dropped into a seat. The gentleman who occupied the seat behind her leaned forward and touched her on the shoulder.

"I beg your pardon," he said, "but this is the smoking car."

"Thank you," she replied. "I thought so."

Then calmly she produced a dainty cigarette case, abstracted a cigarette and a wax match, and in a moment more was smoking with all the calm enjoyment of a man. There was a flutter of amusement through the car—smiles, grins, sotto voce remarks and curious glances in her direction—but she seemed so serenely self possessed that she was soon forgotten for the morning papers. When the conductor came through, he was almost overcome.

"Madam," said he, "this is no place for ladies."

"Indeed!" she replied. "Is not this the smoking car?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"Well, I am smoking—that is why I am here."

"Nevertheless, madam, I must request you to go into another car."

"A request with which I must refuse to comply, and which I do not think it would be policy for you to attempt to enforce," she returned calmly, and she settled back in the seat with an air of such offended dignity and positiveness that the conductor, after thinking very hard for a moment, sighed and passed on.

The woman did not wear bloomers and was not mannish in any particular. She seemed as refined as a woman could be.—New York Journal.

WEYLER EXTREMELY KIND.

He Invites the Cuban Leaders and Rebels to Surrender.

HAVANNA, April 24.—Captain General Weyler has just issued the following proclamation, called out by the condition of affairs in Pinar del Rio. After the usual heading and preamble, the proclamation says:

"It having reached my knowledge that rebel parties in the province of Pinar del Rio are in distress through the constant pursuit by the troops and the impossibility of breaking through the military line between Mariel and Majana and through other insurmountable difficulties, and being fearful of surrendering under the fear of the death sentence, the certainty of which has been falsely disseminated among them, I proclaim and command:

Clause first—The rebel leaders who surrender within 30 days from this date with their firearms will be at once pardoned.

Clause second—Those who are not leaders, but who surrender under the same conditions, with their firearms, will also be pardoned.

Clause third—Those surrendering without their arms will be likewise pardoned, but the military authority will designate their place of residence on the island.

Clause fourth—The surrender must be made to the military authority or to column operating in the field.

NO WOMEN DELEGATES.

The Proposition Defeated by Methodists by a Narrow Margin.

CLEVELAND, April 24.—The proposition to admit women as lay delegates to the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church has been defeated by a very narrow margin. The vote of the North Dakota conference was the last to be taken on the proposition. The total vote is shown to be 7,515 for the admission of women and 2,529 against.

According to a provision of the discipline it is necessary for a proposition to change any of the rules of the church to receive the support of three-fourths of the members of the annual conference voting for the proposition and two-thirds of the members of the general conference. According to the figures issued the women have lost by just 18 votes.

THREATS AGAINST JACKSON.

Mutterings on the Street and In Court. The Trial.

CINCINNATI, April 24.—Eleven more witnesses have been examined in the Jackson trial at Newport, Ky.

The defense moved to strike out Walling's testimony regarding Jackson's guilt, and the court decided that the jury must consider it only as it seemed to affect Jackson, who was present and heard it.

The testimony of Mrs. A. S. Bryan, the mother of Pearl, was full of pathos. When asked how she was able to identify the headless girl sent to Green Castle as her own Pearl, she answered with thrilling effect: "It's difficult for a mother to be deceived about recognizing her own child."

She and her son Fred testified that Scott Jackson was seldom a visitor to her house; that Will Wood introduced her first, and that Pearl was often at Green Castle, and might have met Jackson there at intervals.

Dr. W. L. Litter testified that Jackson had called upon him about Jan. 23, to settle a dispute about the effect of cocaine. It was also proven by J. H. Ulen that he sold Jackson 17 grains of cocaine on Jan. 29.

Allen Jones Johnson, a colored porter at Wallingford's saloon, testified to seeing Jackson and Walling at the saloon Friday night, Jan. 31, and that a young girl was there with Jackson, and they went away together in a cab. He also testified that Mr. Sheppard, Walling's attorney, had offered to make it better for him to stay away from this trial than to attend it. Jackson showed pallor, especially when the Bryans were on the stand.

Drs. Jenkins and Fishback testified that it would have been impossible to empty a body of blood as was Pearl Bryan's, by decapitating it after death. A crowd of boys and perhaps 20 or 30 men were on the street where they could see Jackson going back to jail at noon. One of the men, putting his hands to his mouth to form a sort of trumpet, shouted to the prisoner: "The day we hang you, Jackson." Jackson looked nervously in the direction of the voice, and a deputy sheriff made an effort to locate the man, but did not succeed. A bystander remarked: "We outsiders may attend to the hanging sooner than the court does." Such remarks as "there goes the executioner" were heard among the spectators. Even in the courtroom mutterings were heard as the crowd was dispersing.

THE SHAKESPEARE CELEBRATION.

Vows of Friendship Between England and America Exchanged.

STAFFORD ON AVON, April 24.—The third and final day of the celebration of Shakespeare's birthday, the inhabitants turned out in holiday attire and the streets were brilliantly decorated with American and British flags.

United States Ambassador Bayard and his wife and daughter, in company with George F. Parker, the United States consul at Birmingham, were present. The other guests included a number of members of the Players club of New York, which organization has presented, through Mr. Parker, a portrait of Edwin Booth as Hamlet to the Shakespeare theater and museum.

A window was unveiled in the Shakespeare church. The money for the window was contributed by American visitors to the church.

The band played "Hail Columbia" as Mr. Bayard entered.

Mr. Bayard, in the course of a long address, referred to the special significance given to the present commemoration by America's tribute, pointing out the gift as containing in the recognition of Shakespeare a common bond of feeling and sympathy.

After the ceremony Vier Arlbrnot said to our representative: "I wish to thank all America for this noble gift presented to the church by anonymous American donors. It does much to knit the relations between the two countries."

The few Americans present included Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Parks of Pittsburgh, Pa., Mr. O. H. White of New York, Mr. James Buchanan of Boston and Bret Harle.

After the ceremonies at the church had been concluded the company had luncheon at the town hall. The mayor, who responded to Lord Leigh's toast of "The President of the United States," spoke of the deep affection the British people had for Lincoln and Garfield and called for three cheers for President Cleveland, which were heartily given.

PRESIDENT FAURE MAY RESIGN.

A Crisis May Follow Resignation of the French Ministry.

PARIS, April 24.—The Bourgeois cabinet has resigned.

M. Meline is considered the most likely successor to M. Bourgeois. M. Meline, by reason of his earnest advocacy of the theory of protection, has been called by some persons "The French McKinley."

It is feared that the present cabinet

crisis may have serious effects on the political fabric. It seems probable that a presidential crisis will ensue. In fact, it has been argued by some of the deputies that the resignation of the presidency by M. Faure is part of M. Bourgeois' plan.

The two chambers would have to meet together as one, the national assembly to elect a new president. M. Bourgeois believes that he could control the national assembly as one body, though as two chambers the senate is against him. He would, it is said, endeavor to secure amendments to the constitution from the national assembly which would put the cabinet beyond fear of harm from the senate alone and make it accountable to the deputies, after which M. Faure would be re-elected president and M. Bourgeois re-appointed premier, would be secure in his lease of power.

JAWSMITHS CAN NOW FIGHT.

Dan Stuart Offers a Purse For Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Dan Stuart of Texas, who has been in New York the last month arranging plans to bring Corbett and Fitzsimmons together in the ring, has invited the two boxers or their representatives to meet him on Saturday to sign articles of agreement. Stuart will offer a purse of $12,000 for a glove contest to be held sometime during November of this year, and will guarantee to furnish a battle ground where a fight can be held without interference or forfeit the entire purse to the principals.

He will post one-third of the amount of the purse when the articles are signed and the balance on Sept. 15, when a meeting will be held for the purpose of selecting a referee and a final stakeholder. Brady, Corbett's manager, received a telegram from the latter authorizing him to sign Stuart's articles.

QUAY FOR PRESIDENT.

His Boom Launched by Pennsylvania Republicans.

VIOLENT FIGHT FOR M'KINLEY.

Congressman Jack Robinson and C. L. Magee Lead an Effort to Have the Ohio Man Named as Second Choice, But Failed—The Nominees.

HARRISBURG, April 24.—The Republican state convention here formally launched the boom of United States Senator M. S. Quay for the presidential nomination. This feat was accomplished amid scenes of much turbulence. Men ordinarily sedate lost their tempers and said harsh things to each other, and at least one distinguished gentleman made demonstrations of violence.

The violent scenes were the result of the efforts of the anti Quay delegates to secure the adoption of a resolution naming McKinley as the second choice of the convention. After an exciting debate the proposition was defeated by a vote of 175 to 65.

The convention nominated the slated candidates for congressman-at-large and selected the delegates and electors-at-large named by the caucus. The platform drawn up by Senator Quay's friends was adopted without material change. In fact, it was a Quay convention all through, although those opposed to that gentleman made things lively on the floor of the convention and in committee room.

Candidates were elected as follows: Congressmen-at-large, Galusha A. Grow of Susquehanna, renominated, and Samuel A. Davenport of Erie.

National delegates-at-large, James S. Beacom, Westmoreland; Governor D. H. Hastings, who will nominate Quay; James Elverson, Philadelphia; Francis J. Torrence, Allegheny; Dr. T. L. Flood, Meadville; W. W. Grist, Lancaster; F. H. Barker, Cambria, and Joseph Bosler, Montgomery.

Alternates-at-large: Senator Arthur Kennedy, Allegheny; J. B. Raymond, Altoona; C. W. Miller, Venango; Senator Boies Penrose, Philadelphia; Senator S. J. McCarrell, Harrisburg; F. E. Holler, Cumberland and Charles H. Plank, Berks.

National electors-at-large: Joseph Wharton, Philadelphia; Alexander E. Patton, Clearfield; Lyman D. Gilbert, Harrisburg, and William Witherow, Allegheny.

The last act of the convention was to re-elect Senator Quay as state chairman by acclamation. Quay accepted it to put a stop to the threatened fight between Elkin and Leach for the chairmanship.

Sensor Quay did not remain for the convention, but returned to Washington.

Frank Willing Leach called the convention to order and ex-Speaker Henry K. Boyer was elected permanent chairman and Jere Rex temporary secretary.

Chairman Boyer made a speech, which was a ringing tribute to Senator Quay and advocated his nomination for president.

Auditor General Mylin was made permanent chairman and in his speech advocated Quay's candidacy and the principles of the Republican party.

The platform says:

For fidelity to the principles of Republicanism, Pennsylvania holds the first rank among the states. Year after year it has returned great majorities for the candidates of the Union, and has demanded recognition of any of its own citizens as a national candidate.

The time has come when the state which has so long and faithfully been the champion of the Union and properly submit its own preference for the Republican nomination for the presidency. In the presentation of the Hon. Matthew Stanley Quay, the Republicans, not alone of Pennsylvania, but of the entire Union, will recognize one of their foremost leaders, wise in council and brilliant and able in action, at once the type of the American citizen, scholar, soldier and statesman.

First of all national issues stands protection, and first among its advocates have been the Republicans of Pennsylvania. We believe in protection as a right to all American industries, but as a special favor to none. It should be neither partial, sectional or hypocritical and should be as nearly as possible equal and universal. We demand a restoration of the policy of protection, and we pledge it as soon as the Republican party shall be fully restored to power in the executive and congressional departments of the government, and it shall be restored equitably to the farmer and the miner, to the manufacturer and artisan.

We demand the restoration of that wise policy of reciprocity which was framed by James C. Blaine and adopted by the wise and beneficent administration of President Harrison, to the great benefit of the commerce of the country and abandoned by the present Democratic administration.

We approve the policy of national protection to our ship owners and the ship-building interests by discriminating in favor of American shipping, in order that the American flag be restored upon the high seas.

The Republican party has always maintained the national honor and credit. It favored the resumption of specie payment. It kept faith as to every debt created for the preservation of the Union, and has paid the greater part of it in accordance with the spirit and the letter of the laws under which it had been contracted. It largely reduced the interest charges upon the balance of the debt by refunding at lower rates. It submitted for the fluctuating and inadequately secured notes of the state banks an uniform national currency of stable value, and of equal purchasing and debt-paying power. Faithful to its record, believing that the people are entitled to the use of the best money and anxious to restore and preserve the industrial and commercial prosperity of the Union, the Republican party favors international bimetallicism, and until that can be established upon a secure basis opposes the coinage of silver, except upon government account, and demands the maintenance of the existing gold standard of value.

There should be no statute of limitation against a grateful recognition by the government of the services and sacrifices of the soldiers and sailors who preserved the Union. We denounce the present administration of the pension bureau for the betrayal of the interests of those heroes and its attempt to nullify existing laws.

We believe in the enactment of such restrictive legislation as will admit to our shores only those immigrants who have the capacity and desire to become good American citizens.

We congratulate the administration of Governor Hastings upon its wise discrimination in keeping expenses within their proper limits, and yet remembering that it reflects the interests and views of a great and progressive state. It is justly entitled to the continued confidence of the Republicans and the people of Pennsylvania.

We reaffirm the declarations contained in the state platform of 1895, looking to needed reforms in state and municipal government, and to the purification of elections and the extension of the elective franchise. We earnestly recognize the consideration of the next legislature the several reform bills promulgated by the Republican state committee to quest the Republicans of both houses to give them favorable consideration and support.

A disturbance arose when Congressman Robinson offered an amendment resolution instructing the delegates-at-large for McKinley for second choice. Cries of "No, no" and "Quay, Quay" came from all over the hall.

A motion to lay this on the table was made and the chair decided the question not debatable.

Mr. Robinson insisted on speaking on a point of order, and the chair ordered the roll call to proceed, the ayes and nays having been called for. The result was a pandemonium of noise, during which Mr. Robinson stood in the aisle shaking his fist at the chairman and shouting that he "demanded his rights."

Order was finally obtained, the chair withdrew his ruling and Mr. Robinson took the platform and made his speech in support of his resolution. He said he was heartily in favor of Senator Quay's candidacy, and would, as a delegate, vote for him at the St. Louis convention. He felt, however, that back of the desire of Senator Quay's success there is a feeling in favor of William McKinley of Ohio, if, after all, it is not possible to confer the high honor of the nomination upon Mr. Quay. Mr. Robinson was interrupted at this point by loud cheers for McKinley with strong shouts for Reed.

Senator Penrose responded to Robinson's speech. He brought the delegates to their feet with the most genuine enthusiasm of the day when he declared he was opposed to any action that would belittle and make ridiculous the grand compromise of the convention has paid to Senator Quay. Mr. Penrose accused Mr. Robinson of working a small political scheme for his own political aggrandizement. Mr. Robinson attempted angrily to interrupt Mr. Penrose, but the crowd hooted him down.

When Senator Penrose had concluded, Mr. Robinson asked for an extra teller, saying there had been cases of impersonation on the previous roll call. This precipitated a scene of violent disorder, Mr. Robinson being hooted and hissed for some minutes. C. L. Magee said Mr. Robinson's demand was a reasonable one and this gentleman was hissed and hooted as heartily as Mr. Robinson had been.

Chairman Mylin quickly named Mr. Robinson as a teller, but the latter declined, saying he was "an interested party."

Senator Penrose—Are we to infer that all interested persons are dishonest? In this Mr. Robinson went down the aisle, shook his fist in Penrose's face and shouted out some defiance that was not heard on the platform because of the noise that prevailed.

Order was finally obtained and the roll call proceeded. The proposition was defeated, yeas 56, nays 178.

Mr. Magee made a speech against the endorsement of Mr. Quay. He said he represented a McKinley district, and as a delegate to the St. Louis convention he would be recreant to his trust if he did not publicly enter his protest against Mr. Quay. This ended the fight on the platform, and it was finally adopted.

Rumor That He Is Persona Grata In Hawaii.

ADMINISTRATION NOT PLEASED

With His Refusal to Attend the Celebration of Hawaiian Independence—No Confirmation In Washington That Complaint Has Been Made.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Touching the departure of United States Minister Willis from Honolulu on the 16th inst., for the United States, it is learned that the minister was granted permission long ago to take a 60 days' vacation from his post whenever he deemed the conditions warranted his absencing himself from the islands. If his refusal to participate in the ceremonies attending the celebration of Hawaiian independence day, January 17th last, has been made a subject of official complaint by the Hawaiian government, the fact cannot be confirmed here.

Although Secretary Olney could not be communicated with respecting the matter it is believed that if there has been any such complaint it has not yet reached the state department, but remains to be forwarded. There is good reason for the belief that the administration felt that Mr. Willis had acted without proper consideration in this matter, in view of the fact that the Hawaiian government has been officially recognized by the United States government, but there is no evidence that the subject has been the subject of correspondence between the two governments, and as to Mr. Willis' return to Hawaii, it is probable that will be left to his own determination.

A Honolulu special by steamer to San Francisco says: United States Minister Willis and family have left here for the American minister to observe Hawaiian independence day, on January 17th last, caused this government to lay the matter before Secretary of State Olney, through Minister Hatch. It has been an open secret here since January that the social relations between Minister Willis and the Hawaiian government have not been cordial. It is stated that none of the officials of the government were invited to be present at Washington's birthday celebration at the American legation.

WANT TO ADJOURN ON MAY 18.
Republican Senators Favor Such Action at a Caucus.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The Republican senators have held a brief caucus for an exchange of views on the subjects of final adjournment and order of business before adjournment. Senator Chandler suggested that adjournment ought to be possible by May 18 and was supported in this opinion by an almost unanimous vote of the caucus. Brief speeches were made by Senators Allison, Frye, Cullom and other senators, all concurring in the opinion that an early adjournment was desirable and possible. It was the general opinion that the appropriation bills should be kept to the front until disposed of and no more adjournments over Saturday are contemplated.

Senator Sherman was authorized as chairman of the caucus to appoint a steering committee of nine to take charge of the details as to the order of business, in case it was found possible to consider other than the appropriation bills, and appointed Messrs. Allison, Aldrich, Hale, Davis, Quay, McMillan, DuBois, Perkins and Pritchard.

Considerable interest was manifested in the caucus as to the attitude of the Democrats on the subject of adjournment, but no one was able to give definite information on that point. It was stated, however, that so far as individual Democrats had expressed any opinion to Republican senators they had indicated a willingness to have an early adjournment.

TWO CONGRESSMEN FIGHT.

Bloody Scram Between Money and Hall in a Committee Room.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—A bloody fight has occurred in the house committee on naval affairs between Congressman Money of Mississippi, now a senator-elect, and Congressman Hall of Tennessee. The dispute arose over a misunderstanding regarding the rank of naval surgeons, and Hall hit Money with an inkstand, badly cutting his head, face and hands. Inkstands and paperweights were hurled through the air until the men were separated, and the hall was led away to a doctor.

Further trouble is feared and friends of both men are trying to keep them apart. Both made movements to draw their weapons.

Why She Pulled Up the Carpet.

That there are people in the world who haven't yet learned that there are safer places for depositing large sums of money than old stockings and holes in the wall was demonstrated recently while the roof of a Fall River house was burning.

The department was called out, and a squad of officers in command of Lieutenant Hinkley was on the scene. Suddenly a woman who resided in a neighboring tenement rushed up the stairs and began to tear up the carpet in one of the rooms. She was informed that there was no great danger, and in reply to a question said that her furniture was insured for $700, but she kept at work just the same and finally pulled up a roll of bills containing $1,700. Then she went out to the street to watch the progress of a blaze that occasioned a loss of $10.—Boston Herald.

QUAY FOR PRESIDENT.

His Boom Launched by Pennsylvania Republicans.

VIOLENT FIGHT FOR MCKINLEY.

Congressman Jack Robinson and C. L. Magee lead an effort to have the Ohio man named as second choice, but failed—the nominees.

HARRISBURG, April 24.—The Republican state convention here formally launched the boom of United States Senator M. S. Quay for the presidential nomination. This feat was accomplished amid scenes of much turbulence. Men ordinarily sedate lost their tempers and said harsh things to each other, and at least one distinguished gentleman made demonstrations of violence.

The violent scenes were the result of the efforts of the anti Quay delegates to secure the adoption of a resolution naming McKinley as the second choice of the convention. After an exciting debate the proposition was defeated by a vote of 178 to 65.

The convention nominated the slated candidates for congressmen-at-large and selected the delegates and electors-at-large named by Senator Quay's friends. In fact, it was a Quay convention all through, although those opposed to that gentleman made things lively on the floor of the convention and in committee room.

Candidates were elected as follows: Congressmen-at-large, Galusha A. Crook of Susquehanna, renominated, and Samuel A. Davenport of Erie.

National delegates-at-large, James S. Beaman, Westmoreland; Governor D. H. Hastings, who will nominate Quay; James Elverson, Philadelphia; Frances J. Torrence, Allegheny; Dr. T. L. Flood, Meadville; W. W. Griest, Lancaster; F. H. Barker, Cambria, and Joseph Bosler, Montgomery.

Alternates-at-large: Senator Arthur Kennedy, Allegheny; J. B. Raymond, Altoona; C. W. Miller, Youngstown; Senator Boies Penrose, Philadelphia; Senator S. J. McCauley, Harrisburg; F. E. Hollar, Cumberland and Charles H. Plank, Berks.

National electors-at-large: Joseph Wharton, Philadelphia; Alexander E. Patton, Clearfield; Lyman D. Gilbert, Harrisburg, and William Withrow, Allegheny.

The last act of the convention was to re-elect Senator Quay as state chairman by acclamation. Quay accepted it to put a stop to the threatened fight between Elkin and Leach for the chairmanship.

Senator Quay did not remain for the convention, but returned to Washington.

Frank Willing Leach called the convention to order and ex-Speaker Henry K. Boyer was elected permanent chairman and Jere Rex temporary secretary. Chairman Boyer made a speech, which was a ringing tribute to Senator Quay and advocated his nomination for president.

Auditor General Mylin was made permanent chairman and in his speech advocated Quay's candidacy and the principles of the Republican party.

The platform says: For fidelity to the principles of Republicanism, Pennsylvania holds the first rank among the states. Year after year it has returned great majorities for the candidates of that party with no selfish demands for recognition of any of its own citizens as a national candidate.

The time has come when the state which has so long and faithfully led the Republican column may justly and properly submit its own preference for the Republican nomination for president. In the presentation of the Hon. Matthew Stanley Quay, the Republicans, not alone of Pennsylvania, but of the entire Union, will recognize one of their foremost leaders, and first among its advocates have been the Republicans of Pennsylvania. We believe in protection as a right to all American industries, but as a special favor to none. It should be neither partial, sectional or hypocritical and should be as nearly as possible equal and universal. We demand a restoration of the policy of protection, and we pledge it as soon as the Republican party shall be fully re-established in power in the executive and congressional departments of the government, and it shall be restored equitably to the farmer and the miner, to the manufacturer and artisan.

We demand the restoration of that wise policy of reciprocity which was framed by James G. Blaine and adopted by the wise and beneficent administration of President Harrison, to the great benefit of the commerce of the country and abandoned by the present Democratic administration. We approve the policy of national protection to our ship owners and the ship-building interests by discriminating duties in favor of American shipping, in order that the American flag be restored upon the high seas.

The Republican party has always maintained the national honor and credit. It forced the resumption of specie payment. It kept faith as to every debt created for the preservation of the Union, and has paid the greater part of it in accordance with the spirit and the letter of the laws under which it had been contracted. It largely reduced the interest charges upon the lower rates of the debt by refunding at lower rates. It submitted the fluctuating and inadequately secured notes of the state banks on a uniform national currency of stable value, and of equal purchasing power. Faithful to its record, believing that the people are entitled to the use of the best money and anxious to restore and preserve the industrial and commercial prosperity of the Union, the Republican party favors the national bimetallic standard, and until that can be established upon a secure basis opposes the coinage of silver, except upon government account, and demands the maintenance of the existing gold standard of value.

There should be no statute of limitation against a grateful recognition by the government of the services and sacrifices of the soldiers and sailors who preserved the Union. We denounce the present administration of the pension bureau for the betrayal of the interests of those heroes and its attempt to nullify existing laws.

We believe in the enactment of such restrictive legislation as will admit to our shores only those immigrants who have the capacity and desire to become good American citizens.

We congratulate the administration of Governor Hastings upon its wise discrimination in keeping expenses within their proper limits, and yet remembering that a great and progressive state. It is justly entitled to the continued confidence of the Republicans and the people of Pennsylvania.

We reaffirm the declarations contained in the state platform of 1895, looking to needed reforms in state and municipal government, and to the purification of elections and the exercise of the elective franchise. We earnestly recommend the consideration of the next legislature the several reform bills promulgated by the Republican state committee and request the Republicans of both houses to give them favorable consideration and support.

A disturbance arose when Congressman Robinson offered an amendment to a resolution instructing the delegates-at-large for McKinley for second choice. Cries of "No, no" and "Quay, Quay" came from all over the hall.

A motion to lay this on the table was made and the chair decided the question not debatable.

Mr. Robinson insisted on speaking on a point of order, and the chair ordered the roll call to proceed, the ayes and nays having been called for. The result was a pandemonium of noise, during which Mr. Robinson stood in the aisle shaking his fist at the chairman and shouting that he "demanded his right."

Order was finally obtained, the chair withdrew his ruling and Mr. Robinson took the platform and made his speech in support of his resolution. He said he was heartily in favor of Senator Quay's candidacy, and would, as a delegate, vote for him at the St. Louis convention. He felt, however, that back of the desire of Senator Quay's success there is a feeling in favor of William McKinley of Ohio, if, after all, it is not possible to confer the high honor of the nomination upon Mr. Quay. Mr. Robinson was interrupted at this point by loud cheers for McKinley with strong shouts for Reed.

Senator Penrose responded to Robinson's speech. He brought the delegates to their feet with the most genuine enthusiasm of the day when he declared he was opposed to any action that would belittle and make ridiculous the grand compliment the convention has paid to Senator Quay. Mr. Penrose accused Mr. Robinson of working a small political scheme for his own political aggrandizement. Mr. Robinson attempted angrily to interrupt Mr. Penrose, but the crowd hooted him down.

When Senator Penrose had concluded, Mr. Robinson asked for an extra teller, saying there had been cases of impersonation on the previous roll call. This precipitated a scene of violent disorder. Mr. Robinson being hooted and hissed for some minutes. C. L. Magee said Mr. Robinson's demand was a reasonable one and this gentleman was hissed and hooted as heartily as Mr. Robinson had been.

Chairman Mylin quickly named Mr. Robinson as a teller, but the latter declined, saying he was "an interested party."

Senator Penrose—Are we to infer that all interested persons are dishonest?

At this Mr. Robinson went down the aisle, shook his fist in Penrose's face and shouted out some defiance that was not heard on the platform because of the noise that prevailed.

Order was finally obtained and the roll call proceeded. The proposition was defeated, yeas 56, nays 178.

Mr. Magee made a speech against the endorsement of Mr. Quay. He said he represented the St. Louis convention he would be recreant to his trust if he did not publicly enter his protest against Mr. Quay. This ended the fight on the platform, and it was finally adopted.

Rumor That He Is Persona Non Grata In Hawaii.

ADMINISTRATION NOT PLEASED

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Touching the departure of United States Minister Willis from Honolulu on the 16th inst., for the United States, it is learned that the minister was granted permission long ago to take a 60 days' vacation from his post whenever he deemed the conditions warranted his absents himself from the islands. If his refusal to participate in the ceremonies attending the celebration of Hawaiian independence day, January 17th last, has been made a subject of official complaint by the Hawaiian government, the fact cannot be confirmed here.

Although Secretary Olney could not be communicated with respecting the matter it is believed that if there has been any such complaint it has not yet reached the state department, but remains to be forwarded. There is good reason for the belief that the administration felt that Mr. Willis had acted without proper consideration in this matter, in view of the fact that the present Hawaiian government has been officially recognized by the United States government, but there is no evidence that the subject has been the subject of correspondence between the two governments, and as to Mr. Willis' return to Hawaii, it is probable that will be left to his own determination.

A Honolulu special by steamer to San Francisco says: United States Minister Willis and family has left here for San Francisco. The refusal of the American minister to observe Hawaiian independence day, on January 17th last, caused this government to lay the matter before Secretary of State Olney, through Minister Hatch. It has been an open secret here since January that the social relations between Minister Willis and the Hawaiian government have not been cordial. It is stated that none of the officials of the government were invited to be present at Washington's birthday celebration at the American legation.

It was the general opinion that the appropriation bills should be kept to the front until disposed of and no more adjournments over Saturday are contemplated.

Senator Sherman was authorized as chairman of the caucus to appoint a steering committee of nine to take charge of the details as to the order of business, in case it was found possible to consider other than the appropriation bills, and appointed Messrs. Allison, Aldrich, Hale, Davis, Quay, McMillan, DuBois, Perkins and Pritchard.

Considerable interest was manifested in the caucus as to the attitude of the Democrats on the subject of adjournment, but no one was able to give definite information on this point. It was stated, however, that so far as individual Democrats had expressed any opinion to Republican senators they had indicated a willingness to have an early adjournment.

TWO CONGRESSMEN FIGHT.

Bloody Scrap Between Money and Hall in a Committee Room.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—A bloody fight has occurred in the house committee on naval affairs between Congressman Money of Mississippi, now a senator-elect, and Congressman Hall of Tennessee. The dispute arose over a misunderstanding regarding the rank of naval surgeons, and Hall hit Money with an inkstand, badly cutting his head, face and hands. Inkstands and paperweights were hurled through the air until the men were separated, and Money was led away to a doctor.

Further trouble is feared and friends of both men are trying to keep them apart. Both made movements to draw their weapons.

It is sometimes said that a farmer is easily beaten, but an uptown business man who traded horses with a farmer from Fredericktown yesterday is not of this opinion. He traded a good animal to the farmer and thought he was receiving a better one in return, but when it was examined by competent judges it was found to be about 20 years old.

The small boys have a new conundrum that they are springing on an unsuspecting public which goes like this: "Why is East Liverpool the richest city in the state?" After a man has puzzled his brain for sometime the youngster gives the answer: "Because it has a diamond pump." A great many people would like to know why the pump doesn't run, but the committee say they have no money with which to start it.

The local camp of Sons of Veterans have arranged with the directors of the Young Men's Christian association for the use of their new building on Fifth street, in which to make preparations for Memorial Day, and will assemble there this evening for drill. LOVE CHALLENGED.

Look thou on me not lightly, Love, for thou art not lightly, Love, to be won. Then take all thy wiles of war—Trick, stratagem, surprise!

For so do I love and hate The loveliest ranker that I am in—As lief would I desert as fight, And liefer lose than win!

Why She Pulled Up the Carpet.

That there are people in the world who haven't yet learned that there are safer places for depositing large sums of money than old stockings and holes in the wall was demonstrated recently while the roof of a Fall River house was burning. The department was called out, and a squad of officers in command of Lieutenant Hinkley was on the scene. Suddenly a woman who resided in a neighboring tenement rushed up the stairs and began to tear up the carpet in one of the rooms. She was informed that there was no great danger, and in reply to a question said that her furniture was insured for $700, but she kept at work just the same and finally pulled out a roll of bills containing $1,700. Then she went out to the street to watch the progress of a blaze that occasioned a loss of $10. —Boston Herald.

CLEARING THE DOCKET

Of Cases Which Have Been Pending for Some Time.

OFFICERS JENNINGS AND EARL

Are Among the Number—Objections to an Inventory Sustained—Wellsville Property to be Sold—One Marriage License Issued.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, April 24.—In the docket which will contain the criminal actions to come before the May term of court, and which have been pending through the February term, the following have been omitted for want of prosecution or grounds upon which to make a case: Officer William Jennings, East Liverpool, assault and battery; Officer Frank Earl, East Liverpool, house breaking; Frank Mack-all, non-support of a child; Isaac Levy, Salineville, obtaining money by false pretense; Jack Fastbinder, Lisbon, shooting with intent to kill; Rev. Andrew Birch, Columbiana, assault and battery.

The exceptions to the inventory in the estate of Eliza Robinson, late of East Liverpool, which was filed by John Robinson, husband of the deceased, were sustained in probate court this morning. This ruling excludes all of the personal property in the estate from the inventory and gives it to the husband.

The application to probate the will in the estate of Amanda Hamilton, late of Wellsville, which was set for hearing this morning, has been continued indefinitely.

On Monday, May 4, the east part of lot 9 in Wells addition to Wellsville will be sold by Sheriff Gill, in the case of Jacob Kuntz versus William Smalley and others. The premises are appraised at $1,200.

The sale of the four tracts of land in West township, containing 105 acres, was made in the case of the bank of Minerva versus Louis Betz and others.
The land was bid in by the plaintiff for $1,558, which was two-thirds of the appraised value.

Nine out of the ten prisoners who are now in jail are from East Liverpool.

A marriage license was issued to William Hickey and Mary Bashor, of East Liverpool.

SERIOUSLY ILL.

A Well Known Lisbon Banker Stricken
With Apoplexy.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, April 24.—Daniel W. Firestone, one of the most prominent business men of this place, was stricken with apoplexy and fears are entertained for his recovery. The best medical talent procurable are in attendance and everything possible is being done to restore him to consciousness. He is connected with the Firestone Bros. banking firm.

Clement L. Robinson died at this place this morning of consumption, aged about 50 years. Deceased was a nephew of the late Clement L. Vallandigham, of this place, and was almost the last representative of that family living.

Those who never read the advertisements in their newspapers miss more than they presume. Jonathan Kenison, of Bolan, Worth company, Iowa, who had been troubled with rheumatism in his back, arms and shoulders, read an item in his paper about how a prominent German citizen of Ft. Madison had been cured.
He procured the same medicine, and to use his own words: "A neighbor and his wife were both sick in bed with rheumatism. Their boy was over to my house and said they were so bad he had to do the cooking. I told him of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and how it had cured me; he got a bottle and it cured them up in a week. Fifty cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist."

The Lecture Last Night.

The lecture given by J. B. Watson, at the Christian church last night, on the subject of "Society Unmasked; or Houses Without Fronts," was well attended, and the audience were treated to an evening of rare enjoyment, which was highly appreciated by all present. The speaker completely tore the front from the houses, and left not as much as a board to shield the inmates from the gaze of the audience.

Our better halves say they could not keep house without Chamberlain's Cough remedy. It is used in more than half the homes in Leeds. Sims Bros., Leeds, Iowa. This shows the esteem in which that remedy is held where it has been sold for years and is well known. Mothers have learned that there is nothing so good for colds, croup and whooping cough, that it cures these ailments quickly and permanently, and that it is pleasant and safe for children to take. Twenty-five and 50 cent bottles for sale by A.
H. Bulger, druggist.

A Drunken Woman.

Officer Earl had in custody a woman late this afternoon who was beastly drunk, and by the way she clung to the officer she was enamored with his style. She was lodged in jail.

SPORTING NOTES.

The Y. M. C. A. Boys Start Outdoor Practice.

The Young Men's Christian association baseball club met at the association rooms last night and effected an organization by electing Joe Carey captain for the coming season, and Sherman T. Herbert, treasurer. Upon a motion it was decided to change the name of the team to the East Liverpool Baseball club and it will hereafter be known by that name. The following well known players have signed with the team: Will McNutt,
Philip McShane, Tim Twaddle, Jason
Orr, George Kennedy, Fred Heckethorne, Carson Finch, Charles Fry, Charles Reark, Percy Albright, John
Cartwright, John Godwin, Charles
Davis and Joseph Tolbert. The club will be under the management of Director Homer Morris, and it is proposed to make the team the best that has represented the city for some years. The first game will probably be played here on May 2.

Manager Stevenson, of the Eclipse football team, after negotiating with several well known coaches, has at last closed with H. O. Evans. Mr.
Evans last year played left end for the University of Michigan team, and is one of the best known football players in the country, having played in some of the finest college teams in the land.
He will arrive in the city the latter part of August, and commence to train the Eclipse boys at once. Bambrick, the West Virginia university man who will play here this season, is representing that college in the sports held in Philadelphia tomorrow.

The members of the Young Men's Christian association, who expect to make a try for the team that will represent the association at the state pentathlon contest to be held in September, have started outdoor practice on Thompson's hill under the leadership of Director Morris. The practice will be held on the hill each evening, but will be arranged in such a manner as to not conflict with the classes at the rooms.

Joe Carey has received an offer to play with the Bethany college team.
This is the same team that he played with, the greater part of last season and they now want him to strengthen their club. Joe has not as yet decided to accept the offer.

Mercer yesterday succeeded in winning the third game that he has pitched so far this season for the Washington team, and his good work makes glad the hearts of his admirers in this city. Besides doing unusually fine work in the pitching box he is getting his share of base hits, and is proving himself a valuable man to the Washington club.

Mike Lynch is undecided as to whether he will accept the offer made by the Adrian team.

The colored and white barbers will meet on the diamond next Tuesday afternoon. George Johnson will do the bat minding for the dusky boys, while Taylor Baker will carry water for the white men.

WATCH THE LAW.

The laws of A. D. 1893 make it a penitentiary offense to use electric lights without consent of the owners of the plant, and the same penalty is prescribed for persons interfering with any of the property of a light plant or breaking or injuring lamps or globes. Ten dollars reward will be paid by the undersigned for information which leads to a conviction under this law.

C. M. McKEEHAN,

Into Its Place.

While talking in his sleep Henry Flocke, a builder, residing in Ozone Park, L. I., dislocated his jaw. Mr.
Flocke's habit of talking in his sleep has made him the butt of a good deal of joking. He went to bed as usual, but he had not slept long when he began talking. This awoke his wife, who listened for about ten minutes. Suddenly Flocke's nocturnal monologue stopped.
He began gasping. Mrs. Flocke was frightened, and she shook her husband into wakefulness.

"Why, what's the matter, Henry?"
she asked.

Her husband tried to speak, but in vain. His jaw was immovable. He motioned to his wife that he could not speak, and she endeavored to force his mouth shut. She could not move it.
Fearing her husband was suffering from lockjaw, she sent for Dr. McDonald.

"Do you want me to replace your jaw in my own way?" asked the doctor.

Mr. Flocke motioned in the affirmative. Dr. McDonald stepped in front of Flocke. Without warning the doctor struck Flocke a terrific blow on the left side of the jaw. Flocke showed a disposition to strike back.

"You told me to do it my own way," said the physician. "You observe that your ability to speak is restored."

The blow had knocked Flocke's dislocated jawbone into its proper position, and except for a little soreness he was none the worse. Dr. McDonald explained that Flocke's jaw was liable to dislocation at any time unless he broke himself of the habit of talking in his sleep.

A Disappointed Diplomat.

An interesting story is told in Washington regarding M. Patenotre, the French ambassador. After congress passed the law empowering the president to send ambassadors to such countries as would raise the rank of their representatives, Sir Julian Pannecote was the first to inform the president of the intention of his country to make him an ambassador. M. Patenotre conveyed the ambition to be the dean of the ambassadors and communicated it to his home government, and his commission arrived before Sir Julian's. He went to the state department in the hope of immediate recognition as the first ambassador to this country. He was told that Sir Julian had anticipated him by informing the department of the action of his government. He was angry, and wrote to the president requesting his intervention. He received instead a chilly letter from Mr. Greaham.

It will be an agreeable surprise to colic to learn that prompt relief may be had by taking Chamberlain's colic,

AN OPAL CANNOT BE LOST.

Apparent Verification of a Virtue Claimed
For the Alleged Unlucky Gem.

A wealthy broker of West Philadelphia had a rather singular experience the other day. He and his family have had in their possession for a number of years some very handsome opals, but the superstition which was formerly entertained concerning the stone being unlucky prevented him making use of the gems. Last year he took a trip to Europe. While in London he met at the house of a mutual friend a dealer in precious stones, who had just come from Gracias a Dios, in Honduras, and had brought back some fine gems.

Instead of putting any faith in the popular superstition this gentleman believed in the opal very thoroughly and attributed to it virtues which no other gem possessed. Among the things which he said about it was that the opal was attached to its owner by invisible cords and that it was impossible to lose it, though it might be mislaid. The Philadelphia broker on his return to Philadelphia chose the finest opal in his collection, had it set in a ring, surrounded by small diamonds, and at Christmas presented it to his wife. It was truly a beauty, and she wore it with conscious pride.

One day on returning from a day's outing she received quite a shock—the opal was gone. Search proved vain. No trace of the stone could she discover.
Not only on account of its value, but because she knew how highly her husband prized the stone, she hated to inform him of her loss. At last she felt obliged to do so, when, greatly to her astonishment, he drew from his vest pocket a tiny package and presented it to her. Upon opening it what was her delight when she recognized her lost opal.

More astonishing still, her husband affirmed that while he was walking down Chestnut street a day or two before he felt something under the sole of his shoe, which upon investigation proved to be the opal which he had lost.
There was no doubt about it being the lost one, for the jeweler who had set it recognized it also. —Philadelphia Times.

CLEARING THE DOCKET

Of Cases Which Have Been Pending for Some Time.

OFFICERS JENNINGS AND EARL

Are Among the Number—Objections to an Inventory Sustained—Wellsville Property to be Sold—One Marriage License Issued.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, April 24—In the docket which will contain the criminal actions to come before the May term of court, and which have been pending through the February term, the following have been omitted for want of prosecution or grounds upon which to make a case: Officer William Jennings, East Liverpool, assault and battery; Officer Frank Earl, East Liverpool, house breaking; Frank Mackall, non-support of a child; Isaac Levy, Salineville, obtaining money by false pretense; Jack Fastbinder, Lisbon, shooting with intent to kill; Rev. Andrew Birch, Columbiana, assault and battery.

The exceptions to the inventory in the estate of Eliza Robinson, late of East Liverpool, which was filed by John Robinson, husband of the deceased, were sustained in probate court this morning. This ruling excludes all of the personal property in the estate from the inventory and gives it to the husband.

The application to probate the will in the estate of Amanda Hamilton, late of Wellsville, which was set for hearing this morning, has been continued indefinitely.

On Monday, May 4, the east part of lot 9 in Wells' addition to Wellsville will be sold by Sheriff Gill, in the case of Jacob Kountz versus William Smalley and others. The premises are appraised at $1,200.

The sale of the four tracts of land in West township, containing 105 acres, was made in the case of the bank of Minerva versus Louis Betz and others. The land was bid in by the plaintiff for $1,558, which was two-thirds of the appraised value.

Nine out of the ten prisoners who are now in jail are from East Liverpool.

A marriage license was issued to William Hickey and Mary Bashor, of East Liverpool.

SERIOUSLY ILL.

A Well Known Lisbon Banker Stricken With Apoplexy.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, April 24—Daniel W. Firestone, one of the most prominent business men of this place, was stricken with apoplexy and fears are entertained for his recovery. The best medical talent procurable are in attendance and everything possible is being done to restore him to consciousness. He is connected with the Firestone Bros. banking firm.

Clement L. Robinson died at this place this morning of consumption, aged about 50 years. Deceased was a nephew of the late Clement L. Valandigham, of this place, and was almost the last representative of that family living.

Those who never read the advertisements in their newspapers miss more than they presume. Jonathan Kenison, of Bolan, Worth company, Iowa, who had been troubled with rheumatism in his back, arms and shoulders, read an item in his paper about how a prominent German citizen of Ft. Madison had been cured. He procured the same medicine, and to use his own words: "It cured me right up." He also says: "A neighbor and his wife were both sick in bed with rheumatism. Their boy was over to my house and said they were so bad he had to do the cooking. I told him of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and how it had cured me; he got a bottle and it cured them up in a week. Fifty cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

The Lecture Last Night.

The lecture given by J. B. Watson, at the Christian church last night, on the subject of "Society Unmasked; or Houses Without Fronts," was well attended, and the audience were treated to an evening of rare enjoyment, which was highly appreciated by all present. The speaker completely tore the front from the houses, and left not as much as a board to shield the inmates from the gaze of the audience.

Our better halves say they could not keep house without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is used in more than half the homes in Leeds. Sims Bros., Leeds, Iowa. This shows the esteem in which that remedy is held where it has been sold for years and is well known. Mothers have learned that there is nothing so good for colds, croup and whooping cough, that it cures these ailments quickly and permanently, and that it is pleasant and safe for children to take. Twenty-five and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

A Drunken Woman.

Officer Earl had in custody a woman late this afternoon who was beastly drunk, and by the way she clung to the officer she was enamored with his style. She was lodged in jail.

SPORTING NOTES.

The Y. M. C. A. Boys Start Outdoor Practice.

The Young Men's Christian association baseball club met at the association rooms last night and effected an organization by electing Joe Carey captain for the coming season, and Sherman T. Herbert, treasurer. Upon a motion it was decided to change the name of the team to the East Liverpool Baseball club and it will hereafter be known by that name. The following well known players have signed with the team: Will McNutt, Philip McShane, Tim Twaddle, Jason Orr, George Kennedy, Fred Heckathorne, Carson Finch, Charles Fry, Charles Reark, Percy Albright, John Cartwright, John Godwin, Charles Davis and Joseph Tolbert. The club will be under the management of Director Homer Morris, and it is proposed to make the team the best that has represented the city for some years. The first game will probably be played here on May 2.

Manager Stevenson, of the Eclipse football team, after negotiating with several well known coaches, has at last closed with H. O. Evans. Mr. Evans last year played left end for the University of Michigan team, and is one of the best known football players in the country, having played in some of the finest college teams in the land. He will arrive in the city the latter part of August, and commence to train the Eclipse boys at once. Bambrick, the West Virginia university man who will play here this season, is representing that college in the sports held in Philadelphia tomorrow.

The members of the Young Men's Christian association, who expect to make a try for the team that will represent the association at the state pentathlon contest to be held in September, have started outdoor practice on Thompson's hill under the leadership of Director Morris. The practice will be held on the hill each evening, but will be arranged in such a manner as to not conflict with the classes at the rooms.

Joe Carey has received an offer to play with the Bethany college team. This is the same team that he played with, the greater part of last season and they now want him to strengthen their club. Joe has not as yet decided to accept the offer.

Mercer yesterday succeeded in winning the third game that he has pitched so far this season for the Washington team, and his good work makes glad the hearts of his admirers in this city. Besides doing unusually fine work in the pitching box he is getting his share of base hits, and is proving himself a valuable man to the Washington club.

Mike Lynch is undecided as to whether he will accept the offer made by the Adrian team.

The colored and white barbers will meet on the diamond next Tuesday afternoon. George Johnson will do the bat minding for the dusky boys, while Taylor Baker will carry water for the white men.

WATCH THE LAW.

The laws of A. D. 1893 make it a penitentiary offense to use electric lights without consent of the owners of the plant, and the same penalty is prescribed for persons interfering with any of the property of a light plant or breaking or injuring lamps or globes. Ten dollars reward will be paid by the undersigned for information which leads to a conviction under this law.
